Translation into English from Hebrew

It is well known in the Torah world that there exists a dispute among our Poskim regarding the matter of the permissibility of the use of the electric shaver to shave off one's beard; there are Poskim who permit the use of the electric shaver, and there are Poskim who rule that using an electric shaver is a violation of a Torah prohibition.

I was delighted to see that there has now appeared an electric shaver for those who wish to shave off their beards that was manufactured by the company "Epilady" under the guidance of the Bais Din Zedek Chanichai Yeshivos and it has received endorsement by the greatest poskim of our generation, because this shaver does not cause Hashchasa (i.e. the hair are not cut off completely).

It is befitting for every Jew who fears the word of Hashem and who does not wish to grow a beard to use this machine as it is kosher according to all opinions. About fifty years ago a machine for cutting the beard which is similar to this one called "Outliner" was brought to Moreinu Harav Hagaon Rav Aron Kotler זצ"ל and he was inclined to deem it permissible. This machine is manufactured in the U.S. and is still possible to be purchased. Both machines – the one manufactured by Epilady and the Outliner – are permissible to be used for cutting the beard.

We have come to support the words of our dear friend Harav Hagaon Reb Moshe שליט"א and to arouse those who fear the word of Hashem and in particular the Bnai Torah to avoid a ספק דורייתא and to use only the above mentioned machines that are permitted by all gedolei yisroel.
